WHITEHALL, July 22, 1747.

La 9 Night arrived a Courier, dispatch'd from Turin to the Chevalier Ossorio, his Sardinian Majesty's Minister at this Court, with the following Account of a signal Victory gained over the French near Exilles.

TURIN, July 21, N.S.

THE Chevalier Panefera Major of the Regiment of Casal, who arrived here Yesterday Morning, brought the News to the King, of the Victory over the French, which was gained the 19th Instant, by the Piedmontese and Imperial Troops, at the Intrenchments upon the Heights of Exilles. The particulars whereof are as follow:

On the 19th Instant, at Two in the Morning, the Count de Briqueras, having had Advice that the Enemies were approaching the Heights of Assiete, caused his Battalions to enter the Intrenchment, where they remained till Seven in the Morning; but as they suffered very much by the Cold, and the Enemy made no Motion towards attacking us, they were brought back into the Camp. Hours after the Enemy began to move, which obliged our Battalions to return into the Intrenchment, which were immediately attacked by the French, to the Number of forty Battalions, three Columns, with nine Pieces of Cannon, four-Pounders, supported by a Reserve of eight other Battalions. Our Intrenchments were not yet furnished with Cannon, because it was necessary to bring it up, to cut a Way out through the Rocks, and we had not been Time to finish it; whereas on the other Hand, the Enemy could bring up theirs, without Difficulty, by the Way which they came. The Attack was very brisk, and the French advanced, by Sap, quite up to the Foot of our Intrenchment, to beat it down, returning to the Charge four Times, but were constantly repulsed with Loss. The Fire lasted from Eleven in the Morning till the Evening, when the Enemy retreated towards Seitrieres, pursued by some Companies of Grenadiers, who charged them with the Sword in Hand upon the Descent of the Mountain. Of 14 Battalions which we had with us, viz. ten Piedmontese and four Austrian, there were but eight of the former, and two of the latter, who could, by their Situation, have any Share in the Action.

Those who were engaged, distinguished themselves with extraordinary Valour, and the Count de Briqueras commends particularly the Generals Alciat and Colloredo, and the Brigadier Count Mitrinago. Our Loss amounts in all to 120 Men, amongst which there are two Captains of the Regiment of Guards, one Captain of the Swiss Regiment Meyer, two Lieutenants, one Imperial, and the other Piedmontese, of the Regiment of Casal, and a Swiss Captain.

The Enemy's Loss amounts to at least 5000 Men, amongst which the Lieutenant-General Chevalier de Belleisle killed, as likewise the Majors-General Arnaud and de Larnage. M. de Bergard, Brigadier, wounded and Prisoner.

It is reckoned that they have lost above 300 Officers, and we have taken six of their Colours. They left at Sezan 600 wounded, who were not in a Condition to be carried off.

An Austrian Officer, who came in here this Morning in his Way to Milan, and was present at the Action, has confirmed the above Relation, and makes the Loss of the Enemy still greater. We have likewise from him the following particular Circumstance relating to the Chevalier de Belleisle, viz. That finding his principal Attack did not succeed, he put himself at the Head of the Troops, and having taken a Pair of Colours from one of their Officers, went forward himself to place it upon the Intrenchment, where he was wounded in the Arm by a Thrust of a Bayonet from one of our Grenadiers, and at the same Time received two Mullet-Shots, one in the Head, and the other in the Body; which determined the Enemy to retreat.

We have learnt also this Morning, that the Enemy decamped the same Night, and moved off in two Columns, one towards Oulz, and the other behind the Col de Seitrieres, and that the Battalions, which were left at Saliberstrand, were retired likewise to Oulz.

It appears by some of the Colours taken, that there must have been Spanish Troops amongst the French.

LONDON, July 4.

It has been resolved in an Assembly of the States General, to borrow a large Sum of Money, upon Bonds bearing Four per Cent. Interest.

LONDON, July 9.

We are told from Ratisbon, that the Resolution of the States of the Circle of Suabia assembled at Ulm, has been read there, and amounts only to an Acknowledgment of the Emperor's Attention to the public Good, and the Security of the Empire; with a Declaration, that they have nothing more at Heart than to concur in the same Views; but, as the most solemn Assurances have been made, that the Neutralists of the Empire in General, and of the Circle of Suabia in particular, shall be constantly respected, that Circle will remain attached to the pacific Principles, it has espoused, and give Offence to no Power whatsoever, till it sees the Emperor attacked by a hostile Invasion.

LONDON, July 14.

The French King has received Advice, by an Express, that the Duke de Boufflers, who commanded the Troops at Genoa, was dead there of the Small-Pox; and it is said, his most Christian Majesty, at the Request of the Dutchess Dowager, has conferred upon his Son the Government of Flanders, which the late Duke enjoyed.

Letters from the Hague inform us, that the States of Overijssel have presented to the Prince of Orange, in a Gold Box, the Diploma of his Election to the Stadtholdership of that Province; that the Troops of Hesse, Wurtzburgh, Nassau, and others now on the March, would make a Reinforcement of 10 or 11,000 Men; and that after they had joined the Grand Army, it would repass the Maese at Maestricht. Part of this Junction was made on the 14th at Night, and the Troops that came up are encamped and intrenched at Mount St. Pierre.

We hear that a Squadron of Men of War, under the Command of a Commodore, who will soon be created an Admiral, will soon sail on an Expedition of great Moment.

LONDON, July 18.

We are assured, that the Right Honourable the Earl of Sandwich, his Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary for settling a general Peace, will set out Post early To-morrow Morning for Harwich, in order to embark there, for Holland.

The Hon. Edward Boscawen, Esq; lately appointed a Rear-Admiral, will set out for Portsmouth in a few Days, to take the Command of a Squadron which is speedily to sail on an Expedition of great Importance.

On Thursday the Lords of the Admiralty appointed Capt. Burrows to be Commander of the Culloden, a new Twenty-Gun Ship, launched last Week at Chatham.

They write from Amsterdam, that Information being given often Dutch Ships being laden at Riga with naval Stores, bound to France, a Dutch Man of War was sent out, who met with them, and brought them into Port.

Genoa, July 7. The Day of our Deliverance is at length arrived, and 'tis impossible to express the Joy that appears in every Face which has been continually clouded for the last ten Months. The Piedmontese Troops which were at our Gates were retiring yesterday on the Side of Savona, in order to join General Leutrum in the Valley of Oneglia, and the Austrians have taken the Route of the Bochetta. We have sent out to harass them our Light Troops and a Body of Peasants, sustained by some Companies of Grenadiers. A General Thanksgiving will be very soon appointed.

L O N D O N, July 21.

On Friday last his Majesty's Ship the Thetis, a new Ship of 40 Guns, sail'd from Liverpoole on a Cruise, commanded by Capt. John Barker; and the Expedition, another Ship of forty Guns, was launch'd and is getting ready for the Sea with all Expedition, the Command of her is given to Capt. Thomas Somers, late Captain of the Deal-Castle.

The History of the Marquisate of Bergen-op-zoom, is in few Words this. It was erected by the Emperor Charles V. in 1533, in Favour of Antonio de Glimes, his Favourite. Since that Time, it has descended by Heirs Female, to several great Families; the last Heiress was Mary Anne, of the Bouillon Family, who married John Christian Prince Palatine of Sultzbach, by whom she had Issue, the present Elector Palatine, who is consequently in Right of his Mother, Marquis of Bergen-op-zoom; but the States General have a Right to keep a Garrison there, for the Security of their Frontiers. It is very remarkable that Lewis XIV. in 1672, did not Care to risk the Glory of his Arms by besieging this Place.

Yesterday Morning the Right Hon. the Earl of Sandwich embark'd at Greenwich for Holland.

L O N D O N, July 23.

They write from Hanover, that it's impossible to express the Joy shewn there by the Regiments of Soubison, Meidagten, Krug, Brunck, and Kilmanseck, upon the Order they have received to be in Readiness to march at the first Notice. The Officers and Soldiers, that were absent on Leave, have been all recall'd to their Corps. At the same Time all the Inhabitants of the Flat Country of that Electorate exercise themselves daily in Arms, that they may be ready for the Service of their Sovereign whenever they are wanted.

Prince William of Hesse-Cassel, Stadtholder of the Landgraviate of that Name, and Father-in-law of the Princess Mary of Great Britain, has given Orders for recruiting, with all possible Expedition, the Hessian Regiments in the Pay of Great Britain, which suffered in the late Action at Lavelle.

From Leghorn we are told of the great Surprise there at the News of raising the Siege of Genoa, it being well known that besides the Confusion occasion'd by the Death of the Duke of Boufflers, the Nobility so much feared an Insurrection, that they kept in their Houses great Numbers of Men to guard their Persons against the People.

The Lion, Furze, from South-Carolina, for London, is taken by the French, and carried into North-Bergen.

L O N D O N, July 25.

Letters from Liege inform us, that the Genoese Envoy had presented to the French King a Letter from the Doge, his Master, conceived in very respectful Terms, and full of Thanks for the Succours and Supports that had been sent, to which he acknowledged the Safety of the Republic to be owing; and that the same Person had acquainted his Majesty, that a Letter to the like Purpose had been also sent to the Catholic King. He added, that his Security depended upon the Protection of the Two Crowns, for the Security of himself and the Republic.

By a Letter from Holland we have an Account, that several Families are so terrified at the Approach of the French, that they are preparing to embark for England, and that Provisions are so dear that Beef-sells for a Shilling a Pound.

We hear a Draught will be made out of each Company of the Foot-Guards to reinforce the Army in Flanders.

It is said that the Duty on Glass from Midsummer 1746 to Midsummer 1747, amounted to upwards of 50,000 l. a larger Sum than was at first expected.

Heroisme de Louis XV. sur le Combat qui s'est donné près du Village nommé le Val.

HORS de Danger sur un haut Mont,

Louis, à l'Abri du Cannon,

Se servant de longue Lunette,

De loin voit, sans Emotion,

L'Acharnement de l'Action.

Et des Alliés, la Retraite.

Morbleu, dit on, comment cela?

Quoi! Voir un Combat sans se battre?

C'est faire Honte à Henri Quatre.

Mais arrêtez, — Voici le Cas,

Qui doit d'abord leur ton rabatre:

Quand Louis a l'Armée va,

Ce n'est que pour voir Combat,

Mais nullement pour y combattre.

REMARQUE.

Quand la FRANCE jadis, avec un Cœur Gaulois,

Sçavoit sans l'avilir, obéir à ses Rois,

Chez soi elle prenoit ses fameux Capitaine,

Tel que le grand Condé, Montmorenci, Turenne;

Mais rampante aujourd'hui, sous le Joug de Bourbon,

A sa Honte fait Choix pour Heros d'un Saxon.

The Heroism of LEWIS XV. at the Battle of Val.

ON a Hill, from Danger free,

Mighty LEWIS, mounted see;

With his Glass (not Sword) in Hand,

(To survey, who should command)

There at Ease, without Emotion,

Sees of Subjects Blood an Ocean;

Sees the dreadful Battle rage;

Friends and Foes by Turns engage;

Safely keeping there his Seat,

'Till th' Enemies retreat.

Morbleu! you cry how see this Sight!

His Subjects fighting, and not fight!

Why 'tis enough to bring Disgrace

On the fourth Harry's fighting Race.

But soft and fair—the Case is this,

Hear, and you'll think it not amiss.

Who does—all he designed—does right;

He came—to see—and—not—to fight.

REMARK.

When the French heretofore, like the Gauls, whence they spring,

Were Subjects, submissive, but not Slaves to their King;

Of themselves, they could boast were the bravest of Men,

Such as Condé the Great, Montmorenci, Turenne;

By the YOKE of the Bourbon's now crush'd past Relief,

To their Shame! from the Saxons they borrow a Chief.
